AUSTIN J. EVANS
Administrator

Administration

MRS. CHARLENE GRYGIEL, R.N.
Director of Nurses
Director of Nursing Education

We are proud to dedicate this 1970 Paragon to our administrator, Mr. Austin Evans. Because of administrative skills combined with concern for his fellow human being and civic conscientiousness, many advances have been made to better our hospital and thus enable us, as nurses, to give improved patient care. For this--we salute you, Mr. Evans.

Foreword

"A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to kill, and a time to heal,
A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
A time to love, and a time to hate;
A time of war, and a time of peace."
--Eccles. 3

And so it is with us. We have been given this time to learn, to make new friends, to grow, and to develop--better able to give of ourselves to those committed to our care. Let us make use of these moments.

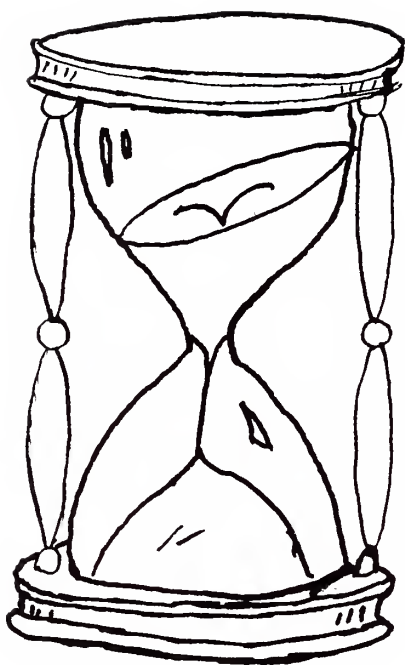

Keep us, oh God, from pettiness; let us be large in thought and word and deed . . .
Let us be done with fault finding and leave off self-seeking . . . May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face without self-pity and without prejudice.

May we never be hasty in judgement and always generous . . . Let us take time for all things; make us grow calm, serene, gentle . . . Teach us to put into action our better impulses straight forward and unafraid.

Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences-- that in the big things of life we are as one.

And may we strive to trust and to know the great common human heart of us all . . . and, oh Lord God, let us not forget to be kind.

Mary Stewart

Registration

A time for beginning . . . as preclinical students, they were greeted at the front door by their traditional "big sis", who settled them in for the trials and tribulations of adjustment away from home. A part of the adjustment is academic life, which includes the learning of introductory principles of patient care.

We are very fortunate to have Mrs. Studebaker as our director, and to have such fine accompanists as Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Hamp.

Our chorus has sung at various medical and nursing meetings, at capping, and at graduation. We had the honor of being chosen to provide the entertainment for the Illinois Association of Maternal and Child Health Congress held in Peoria. In May, we entertained the public with a Spring Concert held at the Masonic Temple.

We feel that the time, required to prepare for our performances, was well spent.

The Florence Nightingale Pledge

I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly, to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.

What Is a Student Nurse?

Student nurses are one of the nicest things that can happen to a hospital.

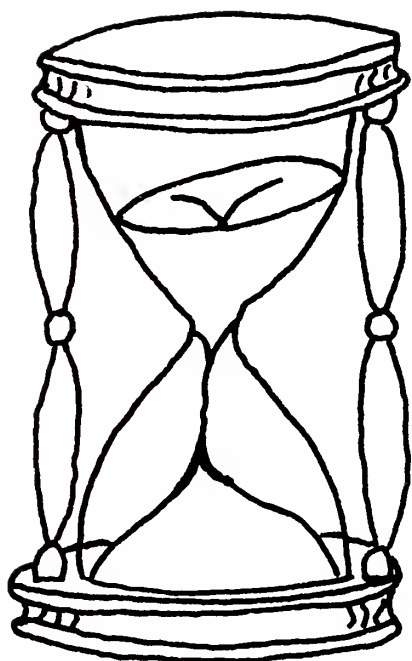

They come in all sizes, shapes, uniforms and caps. They show up everywhere--in wards, in utility rooms, at chart desks and in classrooms. Doctors yell at them; head nurses criticize them; interns tolerate them; residents overlook them; mothers worry about them--and patients love them.

A student nurse is courage under a cap, ambition in a crisply starched uniform, energy in person. She's a dedicated heart, a cheerful smile, a comforting voice.

A student nurse likes days off, mealtime, boys, pediatrics, certain doctors, pretty clothes, and yes, her nursing school. She doesn't care much for alarm clocks, getting up for roll call, making beds or walking long halls.

A student nurse is a wonderful person. No one gets so much pleasure from adjusting a bed or fluffing a pillow. No one else gets such satisfaction from changing a bandage or holding a cool drink to dry lips.

You can criticize her, but you cannot dishearten her. You can hurt her feelings, but you cannot make her quit. Her hours are long; her studies are difficult, but she is a hardworking young woman, full of determination. And she looks forward to the wonderful day when she can proudly say--"I'm a nurse!"

Senior Wills

I, Sandi Atkinson, will to all underclassmen the "will to" or you won't. I also will to Joyce Lockhart the ability to actually get married after a L-O-N-G--engagement.

I, Diane Acton, will nothing to no one because I'm having too much fun with it myself.

I, Michael J. Boorde, being of sound mind and body, will my lifetime visitor's pass to Cook County morgue to Janet Blary in hopes she uses it as much as I did.

I, Josie Rhoads, being of sound mind and body, will to Jeri Irish her own private telephone which I never had any use for.

I, Penny Burke, being of unsound mind, will my ability to keep dogs, turtles, and alligators in Lake View dorm to the junior class.

I, Helen Gagnon, will the thrill of being Easter Bunny in my Easter bunny costume to Carole Lilley.

I, Lesta Ferry, will my unfortunate ability to break all rules and regulations of LVMH to Carma Hasselbring in hopes that she won't have to.

I, Diane Carey, will my ability to fall off stools (in the nurses' station) to Sue Philpott.

I, Sue O'Neil, will my ability of naive-ness to Janet and Jackie.

I, Susan Nuccio, will my roommate, Penny Burke, to Jackie McBride so she can beat on her and have entertainment every night in the dorm.

I, Linda Harvey, being of sound mind and body, will my unbelievable nursing ability and fantastic social life to Sandy Hicks.

I, Jill Casey, generously will to Janet Blary my prized reservoir of streptococci and hope she will proudly nurture them in her throat.

I, Clenna Layman, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to study while watching TV to anyone who can do it more effectively than I did.

I, Mary Ann Milewski, will my composure and all my tranquilizers to Mrs. Patterson, plus my spirit to 4N.

I, Patricia Clawson, being of sound mind and body, will Cook County morgue, Cook County's Persian interns and residents, and even the frat parties to the swingers of the junior class, and even Nanny Nook and her watchdogs to the junior prudes! May they survive!

I, Nancy Robinson, will to the junior class the ability to get along with the housemothers at Jacksonville as well as we did.

I, Sue Gard, will my trusty pinking shears to Dr. Hensold for all his circumcisions.

I, Karen Pelg, will my old, clunky black Falcon to Dr. Dietrich in hopes that he will drive slower in it than in his Vet.

I, Kathy Erdmann, leave my ability to carry on a conversation with anybody about anything and everything to the very silent, quiet Joyce Lockhart.

A Tribute to One of Our Graduates

Minnie Hahn was seven years old when she stood silently with a heavy heart, fearful each time the door opened to the bedroom. Two of her brothers were critically ill with pneumonia. It was 1893 and the days of kerosene lanterns, doctors on horseback, and preantibiotic days when a child's serious illness often meant death.

The Grape Creek home of Jacob and Mary Hahn was much too silent for a home with five young children.

Then came a woman Minnie describes as an "angel", a nursing nun. The "angel" stayed with the boys for two weeks and it was her care that saved their lives.

Most seven year old predictions to become somebody fade away as years pass but not Minnie's. She decided to become a nurse and that's exactly what she did.

Minnie (as she is fondly called by everyone) had to wait until 1910 to begin nurses training at Lake View but she's proud to say it's a decision for which she's never been sorry. She counts people as the brightest blessings of her long career.

"Nursing pays greater dividends than any other profession. Perhaps not in dollars but in the joy of living and the joy of giving yourself to help people."

Minnie in World War I.

"I tell a student that once she graduates, her R.N. certificate is a passport to anywhere in the world. Nurses are in demand everywhere. Opportunities are unlimited."

This can be proven by her history. She has worked at the Boston Floating Hospital and Mayo Clinic as a surgical nurse. She was the first nurse in Vermillion County to wear the American Red Cross pin. She served under Jane Delano out of Washington, D.C. during World War I. She recruited for nurses training schools and enlisted nurses to serve in the Army Nurses Corps.

Jobs were held with the State Department of Public Health and she also traveled through the state to organize clinics for examinations of children and to help crippled children.

She and another nurse organized a Well Baby Clinic, Visiting Nurses Organization, and Tuberculosis Hospital.

The pins that are so proudly worn after graduation can be accredited to Minnie's suggestion.

Minnie--1970

Minnie married W. B. Williams at the age of forty. It doesn't seem like she would have time for marriage even then.

Minnie tried to retire then but was called to help at the Veteran's Administration Hospital.

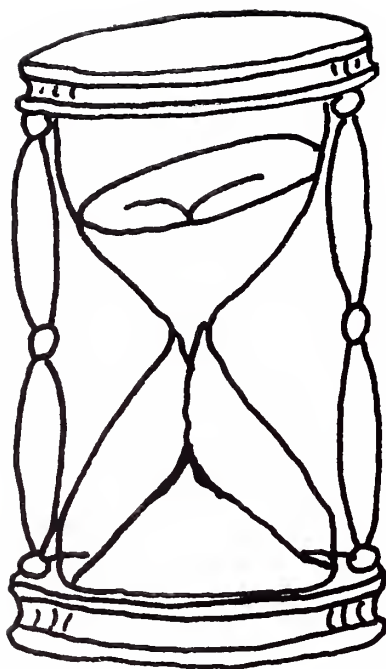

After her husband's death, she tried once again to retire but returned to Lake View in May, 1961.

Minnie stated "I've had the privilege of ushering in the newborn's first cry, and to close the eyes still in death. It's a long journey."

"I've been happy in my work all my life. It's marvelous to know you have something to get up for, to look forward to,"

She tells new nurses "I may have wrinkles, but my arches are still up." Also "if you give love, you'll always have love."

As we walk down our pathway of life, beginning as student nurses, then graduation leading ultimately to a registered nurse, let us keep the image of Minnie vivid in our minds and hearts. Surely if we could follow Minnie's footsteps and become an active shadow of her nursing journey, we too can be proud of our part in nursing.
